Appendix A: Example process for employers when given an opt-in or joining notice

This document accompanies:
Detailed guidance no. 6 – Opting in, joining and contractual enrolment

If you decide to print it out it’s best viewed at A3 size, so you’ll need to ensure that the A3 paper tray is selected on your printer. It spans two pages. Match up the dots on your print out to read the whole flowchart. If your printer doesn’t have an A3 tray, the document will print on A4 but you may find the text size too small to read comfortably.
Example process for employers when given an opt-in or joining notice

Here is a step-by-step guide showing the process an employer must follow when they are given a request from a worker to join a pension scheme. Employers should incorporate the necessary steps into their processes in whichever way most suits their organisation.

1 Under HMRC provisions the trustees of defined contribution (DC) occupational pension schemes in wind up are allowed to commute sums of under £18,000 provided certain conditions are met. The payment of this commuted sum is known as a ‘winding-up lump sum payment’.

Is the worker an active member of a qualifying pension scheme that the employer provides?

Yes

The employer is not required to take further action with the notice

No

Has the worker been paid a winding-up lump sum payment whilst in employment with the employer in the 12 months before the date the notice was given, subsequently left employment and been re-employed by the same employer?

No

Has the worker given in their notice to end their employment (resignation or retirement) or been give notice of dismissal?

Are they a jobholder or an entitled worker?

The employer should assess which category of worker they are, as described in Detailed guidance no. 3 – Assessing the workforce. The assessment date for these purposes is the date the employer received the notice.

Are they an active member of a pension scheme which does not meet all the qualifying criteria but is tax-registered in the UK?

The employer is not required to take further action with the notice but continue with completing the automatic enrolment process.

The employer is not required to take further action with the notice but continue with completing the automatic re-enrolment process.

Check the opt-in notice is valid

Is it signed by the jobholder or, if it was sent by email, does it include a statement from the jobholder confirming that they personally submitted the notice?

Please note: This flowchart has carried over from the previous page – match up the purple dots on your print out to continue reading.

Joining process

Identify the enrolment date

If on the first day of the next pay reference period after the employer receives the opt-in notice, the worker is a jobholder, this is the enrolment date.

Where they are not a jobholder, the first day of the pay reference period in which the employer identifies that the jobholder criteria are met, is the enrolment date.

Check previous membership

The employer must follow the automatic enrolment process unless the worker is a deferred member of a personal pension scheme that the employer wishes to use and the modified process can be used.

Is the eligible jobholder a deferred member of a personal pension scheme?

No

Yes

Opt-in process is complete

The employer must now manage their ongoing responsibilities as the jobholder retains active membership or chooses to opt out.

Arrange active membership in a pension scheme

• The scheme the employer uses must be a UK tax-registered scheme
  • If the scheme is a personal pension scheme, there must be direct payment arrangements in place
  • Contact the scheme trustees or the scheme provider to establish what is required under the scheme rules to create active membership
  • Give the mandatory information about the entitled worker to the scheme and complete whatever else the scheme requires to create active membership.

Joining process is complete

Check whether previous agreements can be reactivated

Whether the employer can choose the scheme will depend upon whether the pension provider can reactivate the previous qualifying agreements.

If the statutory minimum contribution has increased since the previous agreements, the reactivated agreements will need to be in respect of the new minimum. The employer should be mindful that they may be required to consult with members if they are making a change to the scheme that increases member contributions. See Detailed guidance no. 11 – Automatic re-enrolment.

Can the pension provider reactivate the previous qualifying agreements without requiring the consent of the eligible jobholder

Yes

No

Arrange active membership in an automatic enrolment scheme

The jobholder must be enrolled into an automatic enrolment scheme from their enrolment date following the automatic enrolment process. The employer has six weeks from the enrolment date to complete the following steps. These steps are not sequential and can be done in any order. Information and data can be prepared ahead of the enrolment date.

Employers should note that, in any pay reference period that occurs after this date, they must deduct the jobholder’s contributions (if the jobholder is making any) from pay, unless the scheme rules provide otherwise even if active membership is not yet achieved.

1. Contact the pension provider the employer is using for enrolment. Give the scheme the required jobholder information.
2. If using a personal pension scheme for automatic enrolment, give the jobholder the terms and conditions of the agreement with the provider or confirm with the scheme provider the date the provider gave the terms and conditions to the jobholder, if the provider is giving this information to the jobholder. Or if using an occupational pension scheme for automatic enrolment, confirm with the pension scheme the date active membership was achieved.
3. Give the enrolment information to the jobholder.
